HAPPY MOMS. MAY DAY. Cinco de Mayo. and Memorial Day

May holds lots of special celebrations. Hope they will all be great days for you.

This month I helped a friend set up a dynamic website. That was a real brain stretch..I am right on the cusp of those babyboomers who either made the decision to go with computer technology, or not to. Thank goodness when the option came to me some 20 years ago...I made the decision to go with computers. There are those of my generation who made the other choice (LOL) and they are totally lost. I can remember the primitive word processing programs on the first Apple IIe -- good grief, there was not enough memory on those discs to save more than a paragraph of text. What a hoot!!! I will hop onto my soapbox here, and be really angry at Microsoft...who now causes my computer to crash every time they push a "fix" and who have caused my favorite programs not to be easily compatible with their new Vista. I call this corporate greed.

Its also interesting to have grown kids who in primary school were writing simple programs, making their own fonts, and creating primitive computer games. They run rings around people like me who just "use" software, rather than "create" it. I regularly lean on my two sons for computer info (LOL).....

Anyway, the new e-store front belongs to Sue Gausby who makes window clings, and very nice ones indeed. Check out her url and sign up at her website <http://funkywindowart.co.uk> or visit her ebay store ebay/funky-window-clings and view hundreds of products. Window clings are great gifts, inexpensive and are easy to ship and who knows, she might even give you some of her tips of the trade should you choose to purchase a window cling from her, or a pattern from me to try the craft out. Below are a few images of her products.

I have a new category of patterns called "corners" which at the moment has only three offerings, but I will do my best to get some more added. I think using window corner decorations is kind of a fun intermediate between a stained glass suncatcher and a full stained glass panel, as it becomes more architecturally integrated into the decor.

We are blessed with a wonderful spring here.... but our hearts are with those who have suffered loss from the tornados and cyclones.
